Welcome

The timeless enchantment of a magical fairy tale is reborn with the Rodgers & Hammerstein hallmarks of originality, charm and elegance. Originally presented on television in 1957 starring Julie Andrews, Rodgers & Hammerstein's Cinderella was the most widely viewed program in the history of the medium. Its recreation in 1965 starring Lesley Ann Warren was no less successful in transporting a new generation to the miraculous kingdom of dreams-come-true, and so was a second remake in 1997, which starred Brandy as Cinderella and Whitney Houston as her Fairy Godmother. As adapted for the stage, with great warmth and more than a touch of hilarity, this romantic fairy tale still warms the hearts of children and adults alike. This Enchanted Edition is inspired by the 1997 teleplay.

Directors Note

Cinderella is one of my favorite Disney Princesses. I loved the story, the mice, the fairy Godmother, and the music! The story of Cinderella displays timeless themes of hope, determination, and perseverance. We need to see stories that remind us that hope never dies and that if you believe in yourself and are willing to make your dreams come true, anything is possible.

In 1997, a dream of mine came true when I got to see Brandi become the next iconic Rodgers and Hammerstein Cinderella. Seeing a beautiful, black woman become one of my favorite princesses allowed me to envision myself as a princess and that people who look like me could dream of being a princess. With careful consideration to those who haven't felt represented or haven't seen themselves in stories, I chose to have Cinderella be represented by a person of color. I would like to thank Worthington Community Theatre for giving me the space to tell this story and for giving this rendition of Cinderella a place to call home.

Cinderella is a story about disregarding class and race and pursuing your dreams. Our version is set in modern times because this story, while being a fairytale, could easily be viewed in the lens of today.

I want the audience to keep in mind while viewing this show that anything is possible if you are willing to work for your dreams, love knows no limit, and hope never dies!

Sing-cerely,
Tirzah Washington
